Overview

Full stack web developer with a preference to REST-style modelling of applications. Started learning programming with BASIC, C and C++, but became more interested in web development using PHP and JavaScript. Later discovered agile development and fell in love with Ruby on Rails.

I enjoy working in teams and I prefer small companies. I have experience working remotely in a startup. I also work as a freelancer.

Experience

Web Developer, Social Eddy, McAllen, Texas (telecommute) Sep 2012 - Nov 2013

Social Eddy is a content marketing tool that helps users manage social accounts and curate content. I was hired into remote team to help finishing the application created in PHP and MySQL with a lot of Javascript.

- Created and maintained libraries for communication with social networks' APIs
- Worked on analytics - data collection and visualization
- Optimized large SQL queries
